Evolution Markets Named Best Global Natural Gas Broker in 2020 Energy Risk Annual Survey
-- Global Coal, U.S. Power, and Carbon Brokers also Receive Honors --

White Plains, NY (March 26, 2020): Evolution Markets is ranked as the top global natural gas brokerage firm in the 2020 Energy Risk Annual Commodity Rankings. In addition, the Evolution Markets U.S. power, global coal, and global carbon desks placed in their respective categories. The firm was also ranked fourth among all brokers global energy markets.

The Energy Risk rankings are a leading benchmark for traders, brokers, and other service providers in global energy and environmental trading markets. The rankings are determined by votes from active market participants.

“After previous recognition in several individual categories, this marks the first time Evolution Markets has been ranked first among brokers in the overall natural gas category,” said Andrew Ertel, President and CEO of Evolution Markets Inc. “Over the last four years, we have been steadily building and integrating our global natural gas brokerage capabilities, culminating in the launch of our European desk at the end of last year. We are honored by the recognition of these efforts from our clients and peers.”
